The Good, The Neutral, and The Donkeys

by Andy Hung, Brisbane/

We all know that bridge can be a very unforgiving game. One wrong bid (or pass!) or one wrong lead can spell the defeat of a hand. However, the one time it works, is the rush that we all come back for over and over.

Come inside my mind and witness the highs and lows from the Weekend Swiss Pairs.

You hold:

♠Q3, ♥AQJ983, ♦---, ♣KQ832,
2nd seat not vulnerable versus.
vulnerable.

You hear pass on your right, you open 1♥, LHO doubles, partner redoubles (showing 10+ HCP) and RHO passes.

You have a very distributional hand and expect the opponents to run to diamonds, but your agreement is if you bid 2♣ now, that would imply a distributional and a minimum hand (picture ♠xx, ♥KQJT_x, ♦x, ♣KQxxx, an offensive minimum).

As expected, your LHO runs to 2♦ and this is passed back to you. What do you do? (If you double, or had partner doubled, this would be for penalties.)

Andy Hung

Whilst 3♣ now would imply an OK hand, it doesn't really describe this hand to the extent of a "6-5 with a void" type of hand.

I thought about bidding 3♦ (cuebid) followed by 4♣, which would describe a good hand, but after a bit of consideration, I chose a jump to 4♣. My partner, appearing to be on the same train as me, comes back with 5♥!

What does that mean or ask for, you might ask? I'm not sure either, but I would kick partner off my train if he intended it as a heart void with support for clubs (Exclusion Key Card Blackwood)!

For a moment, you might flirt with a potential grand slam with a 6♦ bid (first round control with grand slam interest), but if partner had something like ♠AKxx, ♥Kxx, ♦Qxxx, ♣Ax, grand slam would be a good shot, though a bad break or two can spell defeat.

However, that would not leave many high cards for the opponent who made a takeout double, so partner will have a little less, thus you settle for 6♥.

♠ A K J 5 ♥ 10 5 4 ♦ Q 5 4 3 ♣ A 7

Partner visualised our hand to be at least a 6-5 shape and most likely a diamond singleton or a void, and intended 5♥ as slam invitational. Put this in the good book.

1. Precision, 2+ diamonds, 10-15

Playing in 3NT by North, East leads ♦7 (fourth best, or second highest from bad suits).

What do you do?

This hand is obviously all about the clubs. In a vacuum with no other information to go by, the percentage play in the club suit is to cash ♣A first, then low to the jack, repeating the finesse if necessary. However, the auction and the lead can sometimes contain a lot of information.

Here, East has 5-6 hearts (probably five). ♦7 could be fourth best from ♦Q1087, or if it's from a bad suit, maybe from a four-card suit like ♦97xx (from a three-card suit is possible too, but it would be highly unlikely).

Given that West didn't bid 2♠, East is also likely to hold 2-3 spades (probably not four, else East may have tried a spade lead).

Adding all that up, West appears to be the one with the club length, and whoever has length is the one that's likely to hold any missing honour(s) there. Playing ♣K then finesse with ♣J would gain if East has a singleton queen, but running ♣J first is necessary if clubs are 4-1. If clubs are 3-2, then both plays are equal.

Going with the percentage line, I tried running ♣J:

♠ 7 5 3 2 ♥ A ♦ Q J 10 8 ♣ 8 7 5 2	 N W E S 	♠ A K 4 ♥ 10 9 8 6 3 ♦ 9 7 5 3 ♣ Q

West leads ♣3 to East's ♣A and ♣Q is returned. When you cover this with ♣K West ruffs with ♥3 and exits with ♥10 to dummy's ♥4, East's ♥2 and your ♥J. Can you see any way to make 10 tricks?

I certainly felt like both!

Try this next hand.

You hold ♠AJ75, ♥K852, ♦AK64, ♣10, second seat all vulnerable, RHO opens 1♣.

You make the obvious double, your LHO bids 1♥, partner 2♦, and RHO makes a support double showing three-card heart support. What now?

I thought my hand was too good for a competitive raise to 3♦, and wanting to keep 3NT in the picture (partner may have ♠Kxx, ♥xx, ♦Qxxxx, ♣KQx ... I can dream!), I redoubled to show a good hand.

LHO bids 2♥, and partner unexpectedly bids 2♠, passed to you. What do you do?

Thinking partner was showing a three-card spade suit to try to get to a 4-3 Moysian game (since he didn't bid spades the first time around), I went back to diamonds and eventually settled in 5♦, which was not a success.

I will let you decide who the donkey is on this hand, but rest assured the donkeys have agreed on what to do next time if this comes up again!

Here is one final tester hand. You are East, defending 2♠ on an auction where South opens 1NT (15-17) and North transfers to spades:

I was right that clubs were indeed 4-1, but I received -8 IMPs (instead of +5, a difference of 13) for my efforts. Was I unlucky, or a donkey?

SOLUTION to Tim Bourke's Test Your Play

While it may be difficult to see, there is a simple plan to make 10 tricks – provided West has ♠K!. Suppose the full deal is similar to this.

♠ Q J 2 ♥ 7 6 4 ♦ Q J 8 ♣ 9 6 5 4
♠ K 10 7 6 ♥ 10 9 5 3 ♦ 6 4 3 2 ♣ 3	♠ 9 8 5 4 3 ♥ 2 ♦ 10 7 5 ♣ A Q J 10
♠ A ♥ A K Q J 8 ♦ A K 9 ♣ K 8 7 2

After winning ♥J at trick three, draw West's remaining trumps with ♥A and ♥K. Next, cash ♠A then play ♦A followed by ♦9 to dummy's ♦J. Now comes the clever part of the plan: lead ♠J from dummy and jettison ♦K from your hand. On this layout West can do no better than win ♠K and put you back in dummy with either a spade or diamond, thereby allowing you to discard your two losing clubs on dummy's ♠Q and ♦Q.

You note that it will not help West to duck ♠Q for that will be your sixth trick and then ♦Q plus your three remaining trumps will bring your contract home.

Board 7, South deals, all vulnerable

♠ J 9 6 5 4 3 ♥ 6 4 2 ♦ Q 10 5 ♣ 8
♠ Q 7 2 ♥ Q 5 ♦ 7 6 3 2 ♣ K J 10 4	♠ A 8 ♥ K J 9 7 ♦ A 9 ♣ 9 7 6 5 2
♠ K 10 ♥ A 10 8 3 ♦ K J 8 4 ♣ A Q 3

Partner leads ♥Q: ♥2, ♥7, ♥3 (you play low encourage). Trick 2: ♥5, ♥4, ♥J, ♥A, Trick 3: ♦4, ♦2, ♦10, ♦A.

What now? And what's your plan?

Playing IMPs scoring, the first assumption you must make is that the contract can be beaten. On this hand, you must try to find six tricks if possible. You have two heart tricks, one diamond, one spade that you can see so far.

Partner's big gamble on ♥Qx lead into the 1NT opener suggests that he should have a highish spade given he should have around 8-10 HCP. Putting everything together, you can now visualise a very pleasurable defence.

This was the full hand:

♠ J 9 6 5 4 3 ♥ 6 4 2 ♦ Q 10 5 ♣ 8
♠ Q 7 2 ♥ Q 5 ♦ 7 6 3 2 ♣ K J 10 4	♠ A 8 ♥ K J 9 7 ♦ A 9 ♣ 9 7 6 5 2
♠ K 10 ♥ A 10 8 3 ♦ K J 8 4 ♣ A Q 3

I returned a diamond won by dummy, and when declarer called for a spade, I rose ♠A. Instead of cashing ♥K, I returned ♥9, forcing partner to ruff, then he gave me a diamond ruff, and a fourth heart promoted his ♠Q as the setting trick. This is the reason we keep coming back to the game we all love and hate.

South to lead at notrumps - NS to win all seven tricks. Solution in tomorrow's bulletin. This problem is taken from A Compendium of Double Dummy Problems by Hugh Darwen, available from The Bridge Shop here.

First match overenthusiasm

The SWPT leads to the NOT after 12 rounds of rigorous play, and the first round contained a variety of hands, and some high-scoring matches. To bid a slam, let alone a grand slam in the first round requires a near certain expectation of success.

Board 6 brought some pairs down to earth, including some of the top teams. Only three pairs succeeded in 6♥ NS on this deal:

Ron Klinger, declarer from the North seat received ♠K opening lead. The slam is a good one, superficially requiring diamonds to break and a club ruff in the South hand.

Ron won ♠A and played a second spade. This play often persuades defenders to switch to trumps, and that's what happened here.

Ron took the trump return in dummy, ruffed a spade, crossed to hand with a trump and ruffed dummy's last spade.

The dummy reversal meant that Ron scored four trumps in dummy, ♠A and two spade ruffs, three diamonds and two clubs, 12 tricks.

Is there an advantage in ducking ♠A at trick one, intending to win the second spade and go about the same exercise in play?

How would you defend?

Problem 7 solution

This deal arose in the 2011 Coffs Coast Swiss Pairs:

♠ A Q 9 4 2 ♥ 10 4 ♦ J 10 9 6 ♣ K 3	<table border="1" style="margin: auto;"> <tr><td>N</td></tr> <tr><td>W</td></tr> <tr><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td>S</td></tr> </table>	N	W	E	S	♠ 8 5 3 ♥ K 5 3 ♦ A 7 3 2 ♣ A 10 9	♠ 10 7 6 ♥ Q J 9 7 6 ♦ Q 8 ♣ J 5 4
♠ K J ♥ A 8 2 ♦ K 5 4 ♣ Q 8 7 6 2

After the auction given, West led a low spade against 3NT. South captured East's ten and played a club to the ace and ran ♣10 to West's ♣K. To defeat 3NT West has to play ♣A, dropping ♣K and collecting four spade tricks. How can West tell what to do?

One approach is 'Reverse Smith Peters'. When declarer tackles a new suit, East plays the lowest card to encourage a continuation of the suit led. Here declarer tackled clubs at trick 2. East played ♣4 and then ♣5, lowest each time. To discourage spades, East would play high-low in clubs. As West is known to have five spades, East should encourage spades by playing ♣4, then ♣5. If West is paying attention, West will play ♣A next.

Here, a duck might allow West to discourage heavily in spades, desperately trying to get partner to shift. West perhaps missed an opportunity against Ron, as ♠10 was not the card contributed at trick one or trick two.

As you can see, Ron's line of play meant he could cope with diamonds not breaking—a far-sighted line, and the swing was well-deserved.

There were 12 pairs at the seven-level, four in a hopeless 7NT. 40 were in the heart slam, some doubled, while 17 pairs were in game.

Solution to double dummy problem 5

South plays ♣2 to the ace, but what does East discard? If a diamond, declarer plays ♦Q and East once again has no idle card. If a heart, then declarer cashes ♥A and East faces the same problem.

At my grandmother's knee

Andy Braithwaite showed me a deal from the Seniors in which he found a great lead.

Today he had a companion hand to go with it.

You hold ♠105, ♥J762, ♦1083, ♣A1073

You are on lead against 4♥, with very little information at your fingertips. North has opened 1♥, you pass, South bids 2♥, and with no opposition from partner, North rebids 4♥.

You have a choice of unappetising leads. Let's go through them. A trump lead looks to give up a trick immediately. A spade lead (unsupported 10) could easily blow a trick there, while a club lead, either from an unsupported ace, or underleading an ace has been drummed into you as a no-no since you were a boy.

So it has to be a diamond? Andy selected ♦3 as his opening salvo.

Round 3, Board 15, South deals, NS vulnerable

♠ K 4 3 ♥ A Q 10 9 4 ♦ A Q 5 2 ♣ K	<table border="1" style="border-collapse: collapse; width: 40px; height: 40px; margin: auto;"> <tr><td></td><td>N</td><td></td></tr> <tr><td>W</td><td></td><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td></td><td>S</td><td></td></tr> </table>		N		W		E		S		♠ 10 5 ♥ J 7 6 2 ♦ 10 8 3 ♣ A 10 7 3

This was spectacularly unsuccessful. Declarer put in ♦9 and Andy had eliminated declarer's problems in that suit.

Brooding about this hand, Andy berated himself for failing to lead ♣A, the only lead to give declarer problems. Hadn't he also been taught to lead from length holding length in trumps?

The next match also gave Andy a headache about his opening salvo. This time he held ♠872, ♥A10432, ♦AQ6, ♣63

North had opened a 2+ club in fourth seat. Andy overcalled 1♥, and LHO bid 2♥, a limit raise in clubs.

This time Andy reasoned: "There are six clubs on my left (for the limit raise of a 2+ club opening) and partner has not doubled 2♥ to encourage a heart lead. A spade lead looks futile, so I'm going with a diamond. I didn't lead ♣A last time I was in this predicament (the aforementioned hand), so I'm going to lay down ♦A."

Round 4, Board 10, East deals, all vulnerable

♠ A Q J 4 ♥ K J 9 8 ♦ K ♣ A J 10 5	<table border="1" style="border-collapse: collapse; width: 40px; height: 40px; margin: auto;"> <tr><td></td><td>N</td><td></td></tr> <tr><td>W</td><td></td><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td></td><td>S</td><td></td></tr> </table>		N		W		E		S		♠ 8 7 2 ♥ A 10 4 3 2 ♦ A Q 6 ♣ 6 3

♠ 6 5 3 ♥ 6 5 ♦ J 9 8 7 5 4 3 ♣ 9	<table border="1" style="border-collapse: collapse; width: 40px; height: 40px; margin: auto;"> <tr><td></td><td>N</td><td></td></tr> <tr><td>W</td><td></td><td>E</td></tr> <tr><td></td><td>S</td><td></td></tr> </table>		N		W		E		S		♠ K 10 9 ♥ Q 7 ♦ 10 2 ♣ K Q 8 7 4 2

The defence took the first eight tricks, +400. At scoreup, Andy's teammates said "You've got the wrong vulnerability, it's -600.

"No", said Andy and Arjuna, "it's plus 400, down four in 3NT".
